News from 2009

Parenting Toolkit Launch

The London Network of Parents with a Learning Difficulty launched the parenting toolkit at the Big Partnership Board meeting at City Hall on Monday 18th May 2009.

Parents from the London Parents Network did a presentation to tell people about what it's like for parents with a learning difficulty now, about the toolkit and what we want people to do next.

The toolkit is for all London Borough Partnership Boards. It is to help them check how well they are supporting parents with a learning difficulty in their boroughs.

We want all the London Partnership Boards to use the toolkit and make sure they have good services and support for parents with a learning difficulty in their boroughs.
